The Multi-Purpose Roller Hockey and Basketball Court officially opened at the corner of Quijota and Mustang Aug. 28 to all military family housing residents, their dependants and guests.

"The multi-purpose court is a $432K state-of-the-art-project," said Ruby Modica, 355th Civil Engineer Squadron chief of housing.

"The facility was built to conform to the national Roller Hockey Association Regulations," said Modica of the roller hockey rink.

In addition Modica said that there are four basketball goals which can be lowered for the smaller children.

"This is a great day," said Col. Michael Spencer, 355th Wing vice commander. "This is set up for the kids and it is within walking distance of base housing."

Wear testing a new uniform

By Chief Master Sgt. Gerald Murray
Chief Master Sgt. of the Air Force

There are many things that set airmen apart from the private sector of our great nation; one of the more obvious is the uniform.

Airmen take pride in wearing the uniform well, and presenting a professional appearance to each other, sister services and to the public.

Because our uniform is a source of great pride, changes can sometimes make us uneasy.

That's why we're taking great care in the design and wear test of a new utility uniform to replace the current battle dress uniform.

The need for a distinctive Air Force utility uniform stems from years of feedback from the field on our current BDUs. Airmen through the years have complained of poor fit, the desire for better material, more functionality and more distinction from other services.

The timing is right: our current uniform is supplied through Army sources, and as the Army looks at its own uniform and makes changes that suit their mission, it follows that we establish a source that can provide us with a uniform specifically designed to meet the needs of 21st century airmen.

Let me assure you that this is not a change for the sake of change.

It is a well thought out proposal that will now go to the field in a wear test for your feedback.

Early in 2004, 300 airmen at nine test bases throughout the Air Force will wear the uniform and give feedback on its fit, durability, comfort and functionality.

We want your feedback as well — not shoot-from-the-hip feedback, but feedback that comes from seeing the uniform in action, and thinking about how it will meet your needs based on your work environment.

A Web site will be available that will provide a forum to capture comments and suggestions. We will use these comments in addition to the feedback from the test participants in our final decision about this uniform.

One of the great strengths of our Air Force and its airmen is the ability to adapt to new missions, new technologies and an ever-changing world landscape; this new utility uniform is another example of seeing a need for improvement and moving forward.

I believe it's an uniform fitting of the world's greatest expeditionary Air Force, and one that, if implemented, we will be proud to wear.

Col. Larry Stutzriem
355th Wing Commander

Supporting each other and working together to provide the best programs and services is a goal for all D-M people.

Ideas, suggestions, comments, concerns and kudos are important to make improvements. The best way to pass along a comment or to get an answer to a concern is to contact the agency chief or functional managers listed here. Still no solution? The Commander's Corner phone line is 228-4747.

An e-mail can also be sent to: 355thWing.CommandersCorner@dm.af.mil.

Callers must leave their name, phone number and a message. They will receive a prompt reply in writing or by telephone. We will honor caller confidentiality, but sometimes we need to contact callers to gather additional information. If a concern is of general interest to the base populace, the response may be published in the Desert Airman. Anonymous calls may not be published.

Davis-Monthan Unit Public Affairs Representatives

Unit Public Affairs Representatives are the "eyes and ears" of the 355th Wing Public Affairs office. Each squadron has unique individuals that have interesting stories to tell, whether it is about sports, awards, lifesaving acts, IDEA program contributions, etc.

Stories also include units making improvements to the methods or processes that they use or to squadron facilities or community areas via self help projects.

UPARs are responsible for getting the information to PA in a usable format and in a timely manner.

The Public Affairs staff focuses on issues that effect the base populace in general and UPARs judge the input for newsworthiness or unique human interest appeal before forwarding it to the PA staff.

Public Affairs utilizes UPARs to better tell a squadron's story. UPAR responsibilities include:

- ◆ Provide news ideas as well as write and shoot photos of squadron activities for submission to the base newspaper;
- ◆ Review and solicit Hometown News Release submissions;
- ◆ Review squadron submissions to the base marquee and Commander's Access Channel (COX Communications Channel 75)
- ◆ Seek volunteers for tours and speaking engagements around the court which connects it to the playground behind the youth center and to the shopette/gas station path.

This new facility and the new aquatics area are being built to help increase the quality of life for the children, said Spencer.

"I like skating, the basketball hoops and the hockey," said Joshua Hawn, son of Valerie and Tech. Sgt. Alan Hawn, 355th Logistics Readiness Squadron. "I like all of it, it's really cool."

The Multi-Purpose Hockey and Basketball Court will be open seven days a week, said Modica. The lighting system can be turned on at 5 p.m. by pushing a button on the light pole.

The system will remain on for one hour at a time until 10 p.m.

In addition to the lighting system Modica said, "Men and women restroom facilities are available. The restrooms and water fountain are handicap accessible."

"Children should always wear the proper safety equipment when using the court," Modica said.

"Skate board ramps are not allowed. Security forces will patrol this area and if you are caught the sponsor's first sergeant and commander will be notified," she added.

"As you use the court, please remember to help us keep it clean and ready for all to enjoy by cleaning up after yourself," said Modica.

If you would like to use the court for special functions, contact Yvonne Brabham at 228-6609.

79th RQS leads search, rescue training deployment

Story and photos by
Tech Sgt. B. Coors-Davidson
355th Wing Public Affairs

It has been more than 50 years since the 79th Rescue Squadron "Desert Knights" was originally activated, and for the first time since it was deactivated in 1998 the unit is once again training for its world-wide combat search and rescue mission.

Although the 79th RQS has only been at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base since March, and only has one of its authorized 11 HC-130 "King" aircraft, that didn't stop more than 40 aircrew, maintenance, support and pararescue members from deploying to Chile in support of joint search and rescue training with the Chilean Air Forces.

The mission was sponsored by the 12th Air Force and U.S. Southern Command to provide D-M HC-130 crews and 38th Rescue Squadron pararescue members from Moody Air Force Base, Ga., the unique opportunity to train in various rescue operations to include water rescue, day and night operations, flying in mountainous regions and joint operations with foreign pararescue forces.

The group departed D-M before daylight Aug. 18 aboard two C-130s and made stops in Mexico City, Mexico, and Guayaquil, Ecuador, for fuel and crew rest before arriving at Los Cerrillos Air Base near Santiago, Chile.

Within hours of arriving at their training location, the unit had off-loaded all equipment and set up an operations center and maintenance area and coordinated mission briefings with Chilean forces.

Missions began Aug. 20 with a high altitude, low open drop of about 20 American and Chilean pararescuemen. The training schedule pushed flight crews, mission leaders, aircraft maintainers and rescuers to overcome language barriers, cultural and military differences as well as climate and terrain challenges to work together for a common goal.

Each training scenario offered new obstacles, and everyone pulled together to successfully accomplish the objectives.

Safety was in the forefront of all activities, and the mission was accomplished each day without injury or accident.

"The entire mission was a great success," said Lt. Col. Steven Alderfer, 79th Rescue Squadron commander. "It takes a professional, dedicated team effort to complete such a demanding mission successfully. Everyone performed to the best of my expectations - particularly our maintenance people, who made sure we had safe, flyable aircraft every day."

Each day's mission placed the air crews and jumpers in a different environment, but the Andes are always in close proximity with snow-covered peaks soaring from the mist off each wing tip and casting a shadow over the aircraft.

The second mission placed the jumpers off the rugged Chilean coastline for a water rescue exercise. American and Chilean jumpers left the aircraft at 4,000 feet over the frigid waters of the South Pacific Ocean where giant cargo ships were anchored as they awaited their turn to off-load or take in cargo and crew members lined the ship's rails to watch the aerial activity.

"The experience of training with foreign military members in a similar profession is extremely valuable to the mission," said Master Sgt. John Kingsley, 38th RQS pararescue jumpmaster. "I was particularly impressed with the airborne operations from execution to the medical exercises on the ground. The teams of U.S. and Chilean forces showed outstanding initiative and strong spirit under difficult circumstances."

As the sun set on the final training exercise, the 79th RQS aircrew skill was particularly evident as they brought more than 30 jumpers on target for a static line drop at a mere 1,200 feet over a field surrounded by snow-capped mountains in all directions.

Members of the Chilean Air Force demonstrated their acting skills as simulated casualties for the scenario, complete with blood-soaked "injuries," as the American and Chilean rescuers jumped into the scene, took up a defensive perimeter and found and treated each "wounded" airman.

Finding and treating each casualty was no small feat for the American and Chilean pararescuemen as the exercise began while the cold, Chilean winter night closed in on the jump-zone.

"Many people may look at a mission like this, and because of the appeal of the location, consider it more of a vacation than a deployment," Alderfer added. "Santiago, Chile, certainly is an appealing location, but we worked hard to make the mission a success and the training gained, particularly for our younger, inexperienced crewmembers, was invaluable."

Dependents live a day in the shoes of their sponsors

By 2nd Lt. Cheryl Moore
Personnel Deployment Function, Jr. coordinator

Davis-Monthan Air Force Base held an event Aug. 23 to give dependents of active-duty members the opportunity to process through a deployment line.

The 355th Mission Support Squadron, in conjunction with the 355th Security Forces Squadron, 355th Civil Engineer Squadron and the 355th Logistics Readiness Squadron, worked to provide D-M the Personnel Deployment Function, Jr.

The purpose of the PDF, Jr. is to give children and spouses a better understanding of real world deployments and an opportunity to see what's happening when their parents are called into action before the base is hit with the Air and Space Expeditionary Force Silver deployments and the Operational Readiness Inspection.

Through coordination with several base agencies, participants were treated to a variety of mission related activities. The 355th LRS provided briefings on the various equipment active-duty members could potentially deploy with during a contingency. Participants were given the opportunity to try on the chemical gear, including gas masks, the full suit, flak jackets, helmets and gloves.

The 355th SFS provided fingerprinting for all children, a weapons safety presentation, a working dog demonstration and a tour of the 355th SFS vehicles.

Adding to the excitement was the 355th CES, who showed up with a bang in their fire trucks and with Sparky the firedog in tow. They provided fire suits for the children to try on along with the opportunity to climb into the trucks and feel their way around.

The PDF, Jr. will be offered again in the future to ensure that all spouses and children around the base can take part.

"Every Wing member should come out to the next event with their children," said Lt. Col. Bob Labrutta, 355th MSS commander. "This is a wonderful educational experience especially since your loved ones get a chance to actually witness and participate in the personnel deployment process first hand — it's just awesome." Rachel Garrett, a mother of two, brought the day to a close with these words: "For all of you to be working so hard on a weekend and to be looking so happy about it, it just means so much to us."

Car show wraps up 101 days

355th Wing Public Affairs

The 355th Wing Safety Office worked in coordination with numerous other base agencies to hold the second annual Airmen Against Drunk Driving Car and Bike Show at Heritage Park Aug. 28.

The car show raised awareness of the effects of driving under the influence and closed out the 101 Critical Days of Summer campaign.

Among the attractions at the car show were the roll-over demonstrator and the driving under the influence goggle and golf cart ride.

The roll-over demonstrator, provided by the Pima County Sheriff Department featured the cab of a vehicle fixed on a rotating axis with an adult human "dummy" and carseat inside. The operator strapped the dummy and carseat in the car with safety belts, then rotated it, simulating the effects of a roll-over accident. The individuals were then unstrapped and the vehicle rotated. This showed the crowd the difference between being strapped in during a roll-over and being unbuckled.

"It was really enlightening to see the difference wearing your safety belt can make. When the dummies were not strapped in, they were launched from the vehicle, but when they were strapped in, they remained intact with no damage," said Master Sgt. Matthew Pederson, 355th Wing Ground Safety superintendent.

The golf cart ride let participants strap on a pair of DUI goggles that simulated the individual being intoxicated. The participants then drove the golf cart on a weaving path between approximately eight cones and back. The goal was to knock over as few cones as possible.

"The DUI golf cart is an excellent means of helping people realize how detrimental to their safety imbibing alcohol, then getting behind the wheel can be," said Pederson.

The car show was a success by Michael Barnes', 355th Wing chief of safety, definition. There were 31 participants, more vehicles were entered into the show and more money was raised than last year, Barnes said.

"It was a relaxed atmosphere with an excellent gathering of cars and motorcycles. Everyone had a good time," added Barnes.

The judged categories and winners were: Best sport bike won by Jeffrey Kilgo and his 1995 Suzuki 1100; best cruiser bike won by Gary Kane, 355th Logistics Readiness Squadron, and his 2002 Harley Davidson; best sports or compact vehicle won by Marine Sgt. David Tech. Sgt. Rene Tetreault, 355th Equipment Maintenance Squadron, polishes his chromed-out 1965 Chevelle SS at the car show held Aug. 28.

Castro and his 1993 Honda Civic; best SUV or truck won by Senior Airman Santino Montalvo, 355th LRS, and his 1993 Chevy pickup; best car won by Staff Sgt. Hans Trower, 355th LRS, and his 1996 Chevy Impala; best of show bike won by Staff Sgt. Thomas Holzwarth, 355th Equipment Maintenance Squadron and his R1; and best of show car won by Staff Sgt. Gernard Prince, 355th Aircraft Maintenance Squadron, and his 1973 Chevy Caprice.

55th RQS receives vital open water training

By 1st Lt. James Humphrey
55th Rescue Squadron

The 55th Rescue Squadron deployed a three ship of HH-60G Pavehawks to Naval Air Station North Island the second week of August. This was the Nighthawks third deployment to NASNI. It included the majority of the 55th aircrew and dozens of maintenance and support personnel.

Situated only minutes from numerous military open water-training areas in the Pacific Ocean, NASNI provides an excellent location for the Nighthawks to accomplish day and night water training. As well as accomplishing water training, the deployment provided an opportunity for the Nighthawks to evaluate their ability to deploy.

"One of the key purposes of these small deployments is to practice and evaluate our own ability to pack up and operate out of a forward location," said Lt. Col. Brad Grambo 55th RQS director of operations. "It's a great opportunity for the plans, mobility and current operations shops to interact with each other as well as other services to make things happen. Every time we train at NASNI, we are validating our ability to deploy, operate, re-deploy and reconsolidate."

The Nighthawks sent the three Pavehawks out Aug. 10 for the approximately three-hour

Training

flight to San Diego. Over the course of the following week a variety of different training was accomplished. Nighthawk helicopter crews were able to conduct day and night underway and insertion/extraction training with Navy Special Boat Team 12. This was one of the 55th's first chance to work with an outside agency.

The live training with the Navy was a success and the Nighthawks impressed SBT 12 with their professionalism and ability to adapt to their requirements. Along with the Navy, the 55th worked with Pararescue Jumpers from the 48th Rescue Squadron. The PJ's received a chance to do low and slow insertions, rescue hoist/stokes litter operations, rope ladder extractions and fast rope insertions.

"We got a lot of great training done, it's always good to get live water training," said Senior Airman Sean McBride, 48th RQS pararecueman.

The 55th RQS aircrew also benefited from the PJ's joining them on several sorties. Live PJ's provide more intensity to the training and is a preferred method to simulating the insertions and extractions.

"Having a live survivor in the water is much more intense and difficult. The pilots rely on us for their eyes since they can't even see the survivor under the helicopter," said Staff Sgt. Eric Shawm, 55th RQS Nighthawk flight engineer.

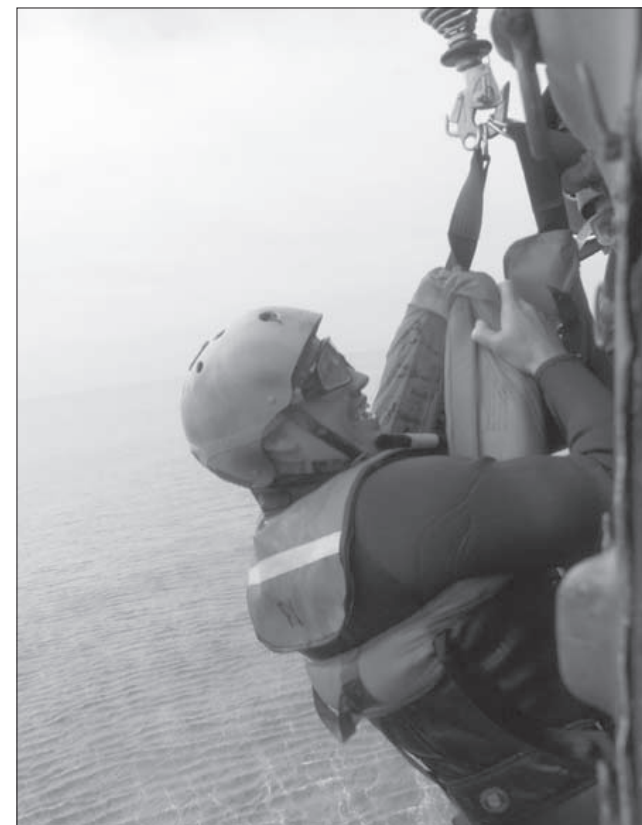

"Water operations here in Arizona at smaller lakes just doesn't compare to doing the real thing out over the ocean," said Capt. Ian Kemp, 55th RQS pilot.

The trip was also successful for the 55th Aircraft Maintenance Unit. They were able to consistently generate 100 percent mission capable helicopters throughout the demanding week. Operations required that the helicopters were turned from day to night lines for most of the deployment.

"The 55th AMU quietly provided sound deployed maintenance expertise resulting in all operator mission objectives being met. Their ability to generate helicopters successfully in any deployed environment will pay huge dividends when the unit transitions to AFSOC," said 1st Lt. Tim Barnes, 55th AMU flight commander.

Overall the deployment was a success and the 55th plans to continue to travel to NASNI once every quarter. The Nighthawks also plan to accomplish shipboard operations training with the Navy on future deployments. With the ability to work with outside agencies, the excellent training environment, and the relatively close location, NASNI will continue to play a vital role in preparing the Nighthawks for their worldwide deployable capability.

1st Lt. James Humphrey

Staff Sgt. Frank Riley, 48th Rescue Squadron pararescueman, rides up the hoist to an HH-60G after participating in a open water training exercise.

Sonoran Spotlight

(Editor's note: Sonoran Spotlight is a weekly feature of the Desert Airman that profiles a member (officer, enlisted or civilian) of the Davis-Monthan Air Force Base Desert Lightning community. Members are nominated by their unit commander or first sergeant.)

Name: Airman Skyler Wiley

Organization: 355th Security Forces Squadron

Duty title: Response force member and entry controller

Hometown: Bellevue, Neb.

Years of service: Nine months

Reason for joining the Air Force: I joined to be able to see the world as I serve my country and to hopefully continue my education in the process.

Main responsibilities: My main responsibilities include securing D-M priority assets and ensuring a safe environment for all base residents.

Best aspects of job: The best aspect of this career field is its diversity. Dealing with people makes it exciting and never boring.

Goals: My goals are to make staff sergeant in three years and seven months and to save someone's life.

Hobbies/outside activities: I enjoy basketball, hiking and water skiing.

Favorite thing about D-M: I think that the size of D-M is just right and it is next to the mountains -- what better place to hike?

Best assignment: This is my first assignment.

Inspiration: My mother, because she has gone through so much in her life and she always comes out with a smile on her face, regardless of the situation. She has this famous quote that she always says to make me feel better, "and this too shall pass."

(Right) Maj. Scott Benza, 355th Contracting Squadron commander, congratulates Tech. Sgt. Timothy Hollis, 355th CONS contingency support element NCO in charge, who received an Air Combat Command Contracting coin from visiting Col. Glenn Whitaker, ACC director of contracting. Benza assumed command of the 355th CONS June 30.

Special recognitions

SOS distinguished graduate

Congratulations to Capt. Steve Sztan, 354th Fighter Squadron, who recently received recognition as a distinguished graduate and as a Top 4 grad from Squadron Officer School.

Thanks to the D-M community

The Community Food Bank collected a total of 273,266 pounds of food during this year's National Letter Carrier's Food Drive, which is 20,594 more pounds than last year.

Thanks to all the people from Davis-Monthan who helped in this year's food drive, said Kristen Hershberger, Community Food Bank volunteer coordinator. It couldn't have been this successful without the help of D-M.

Knowing how to protect yourself vital

Nuclear

Protective Measures:

- ◆ Shelters provide protection from blast and thermal effects. Take cover immediately. If outside, take cover in a ditch.
- ◆ Time, distance and shielding are the best overall protection against radiation hazards.
- ◆ Limit time outside the shelter and exposure to radiation.
- ◆ Wear gloves, field jacket and hood. Blouse pants and tape openings in your uniform.

Chemical-Blister

Protective Measures:

- ◆ Mask immediately
- ◆ Decontaminate skin with M291 or M258A1 Skin Decontamination Kits
- ◆ Avoid contaminated surfaces
- ◆ Practice contamination avoidance and expedient decontamination
- ◆ Flush eyes and open wounds with water and protect from further contamination
- ◆ Seek medical attention as soon as possible after any exposure or as soon as symptoms appear

Symptoms:

May be immediate or take up to four hours to appear; may cause stinging sensation upon contact; burns or blisters any tissue it contacts; red, watering eyes, blurred vision, or blindness; light sensitivity; groin and armpits are more susceptible to blister agents; coughing or burning in throat, vomiting

Chemical-Nerve

Mild Symptoms:

Difficulty seeing; unexplained runny nose; tightness in chest; sudden drooling or headache; localized sweating and muscular twitching; stomach cramps; nausea

Severe Symptoms:

Muscle twitching and weakness; difficulty breathing; wheezing and coughing; pinpoint pupils; red eyes and tearing; strange, confused behavior; vomiting, urination, defecation; convulsions; respiratory failure; unconsciousness; death

Treatment:

- ◆ Mask immediately
- ◆ Remove external contamination with M291 or M258A1 Skin Decontamination kits
- ◆ Administer antidote as directed
- ◆ Evacuate to the medics

Biological

Protective Measures:

- ◆ Maintain good health, good hygiene, proper sanitation and keep immunizations up to date.
- ◆ Thoroughly wash fruit and vegetables before eating
- ◆ Wear chemical protective equipment as required.

Contamination Avoidance

Cover and Limit Entry:

The most effective way to avoid contamination is to prevent the asset from becoming contaminated in the first place. Develop low or no-cost standing operating procedures to put equipment that is not being used under overhead cover. If the equipment cannot be placed under overhead cover, wrap or cover it with at least one layer of barrier material to prevent contamination. Use water repellent plastic sheets, canvas, tarpaulins or specialized NBC protective covers.

Detection and Identification:

Early detection provides more time to implement protective measures. Accurate identification of agents enables selection of the most effective protective actions, including medical treatment and limits mission degradation that results from taking unnecessary actions. Nuclear, biological and chemical detection and identification includes the use of point and standoff detection methods, risk assessment and all available medical and non-medical intelligence assets (if available).

Air tight seal imperative against toxic agents

With suspected contamination, every step in donning the mask is important and must be done quickly and accurately. You must put the mask on before you take another breath.

Donning: Donning the mask with the hood attached should take place in 15 seconds. This allows you to don the mask and get an airtight seal in nine seconds with an additional six seconds to pull the hood over the head and tighten the cord. Follow these 13 steps:

Step 1: STOP BREATHING!

Step 2: Close eyes tightly

Step 3: Remove headgear

Step 4: Remove mask and hood from carrier

Step 5: Hold outlet valve assembly in palm of one hand. Using free hand, push forehead hair aside. Place mask on face forcing the chin cup very tightly against chin. Pull head harness over head using quick-don tab.

Step 6: Grasp a neck strap in each hand and tighten using jerking motions. The neck straps should be the only straps adjusted. Temple and forehead straps are adjusted when you fit the mask and left in position.

Step 7: Expel air held in the lungs.

Step 8: Press palm of one hand over the canister opening. Inhale to determine whether an airtight seal of mask against face has been obtained.

Step 9: Open eyes and resume normal breathing.

Step 10: Pull back of hood over your head so the hood covers your head. Drape cape over shoulders. Make sure the cape is under neck cord.

Step 11: Use neck cord fastener to tighten neck cord until hood is held snugly around neck.

Step 12: Pass straps under arms. Fasten ends of straps and neck cord fastener to front of cape.

Step 13: Replace headgear and close the carrier.

Football Frenzy 2003

The D-M clubs are planning another exciting year of Football Frenzy fun! This year's Football Frenzy kicks off Monday at both clubs with Monday Night Football. Watch last year's National Football Conference Championship game teams — the Tampa Bay Buccaneers and the Philadelphia Eagles — go head to head. This year, club members will be taking home local prizes and giveaways including a brand new 2003 Kia Rio from Royal Kia. Another lucky club member will take home a living room set from Angeles Furniture. Look for even more grand prizes to be announced every week. This year, the Desert Oasis Enlisted Club will sport a new Sony 60-inch big screen TV donated by First Command Financial Planning of Tucson. Both clubs will also have food and drink specials, free half-time hoagies and lots of halftime fun and games including the opportunity to win hundreds in free club bucks every week. Eight sets of Arizona Cardinals home game tickets will also be awarded this year. The Frenzy continues every Sunday too. Catch up to five different games with NFL Sunday Ticket while enjoying great drink specials, food and a chance to win a grand prize. Members who fill out an official Frenzy entry form during any Frenzy event on Sunday or Monday could also win a VIP trip to one of these games from Air Force clubs; Houston Texans at the Tampa Bay Bucs, the 2004 Super Bowl in Houston, or the 2004 Pro Bowl in Honolulu. For more information, call 228-3301 or 228-3100. (The mention of businesses does not imply federal endorsement.)

Sunday Bowling

The bowling center will be open Sundays beginning Sept. 14 from noon to 7 p.m. The center will start out every Sunday with Family Dollar Days from noon to 4 p.m. Enjoy $1 games (per game/per bowler), shoe rentals, hot dogs, fries and nachos (bowlers only on snack bar items). Also Family Cosmic bowling will move from Wednesdays to Sundays from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. (same format as current program). Use your coupon in the September Services Activity Magazine and receive $1 off a $10 two-hour lane rental. One coupon per customer. For more information, call 228-3461.

Education Services

Troops To Teachers

Teacher licensure/certification requirements are determined by each state. Most require completion of specific subject and education courses, with some requiring that teachers pass a licensing test. Direct links to the state's licensing requirements are available via the Troops To Teachers home page at: <http://ProudToServeAgain.Com>.

DANTES

Defense Activity for Non-Traditional Education Support has a Web site called Internet Resources On Colleges And Careers at http://www.dantes.doded.mil/dantes_web/refpubs/inetres.htm. It contains the following: financial aid info, college search sites, recognized accrediting bodies, career information, distance learning sites, foreign transcript evaluation services and more.

Scholarships

Each year, over $300 million of scholarship money is available for military personnel, veterans and their dependents. If you are pursuing a degree or certificate, scholarships are a good way to supplement GI Bill and tuition assistance. You can use scholarships to help pay for tuition and books at most educational institutional, including online courses. Military personnel are encouraged to search and apply for scholarships online at <http://www.military.com/Careers/Education/ScholarshipSearch/?ESRC=mr.nl>.

Friday and Sunday; 7 p.m.: Bad Boys II

(R) Narcotics detectives Mike Lowrey and Marcus Burnett have been assigned to a high-tech task force investigating the flow of designer Ecstasy into Miami. This leads them to a conspiracy involving a vicious Kingpin whose ambitions have ignited a bloody turf war. As tensions rise between Mike and Marcus, they must separate personal from the professional are risk the lives of many. 2 hours, 26 minutes

Saturday; 2 p.m.: Pokemon Heroes

(G) Ash and Pikachu travel to the Water Capital of the world, Alto Mare, where they meet two new Pokemons, the brother/sister pair of birds called Latias and Latios. The siblings protect a treasure called the Droplet of the Heart, which is the target of a pair of thieves, Zanna and Rion. As the town gets accidentally flooded, the Droplet becomes endangered. 1 hour, 20 minutes

Saturday: The League of Extraordinary Gentlemen

(PG-13) Loosely based on the Alan Moore graphic novel epic of the same name, a group of characters drawn from famous works of literature, including Captain Nemo, Allan Quatermain, The Invisible Man, Mina Murray and Dr. Jekyll, banding together to combat criminal undertakings of the highest order near the turn of the 19th century. 1 hour, 50 minutes

Services Activities

Southwest Oktoberfest and bedrace

Start planning now to come out and have a great time at the Desert Oasis' Southwest Oktoberfest and Bedrace Sept. 26th from 4 to 10 p.m. There will be fantastic prizes, food, beverages and lots of fun including these cool contests: squadron bed race, nail hammering, log sawing, beer stein carrying, beer barrel racing and cow milking. For more information, call 228-3100 or 228-3500.

ITT has moved

The Information, Tickets and Travel Office has moved to the outdoor recreation in Building 4430. For more information, call 228-3700 or 748-1942.

Kid's pet show and pet pool party

There is a kid's pet show and pet pool party Sept. 27th. This event is free to all base personnel and begins with the pet show from 9 a.m. to noon at the golf course chipping range. There will be prizes for first and second place. Please register your pets for the show by 10 a.m. The pet pool party will follow from noon until 2 p.m. at the base pool. Animal treats and toys will also be given away. Bring your animals and come join us for some fun. Be sure that you have happy, sociable animals that just want to swim. Owners are responsible for making sure vaccinations are up to date, keeping animals under control and all supplies to clean up behind your pet if necessary. For more information, all Ken Briles at 228-3736.

Pima County Teen Court

Teens will leave at 7:45 a.m. Sept. 6 and return around 1 p.m. This program allows teens to act as jurors on a trial for teens that have been convicted of a minor crime (shoplifting, possession of alcohol/tobacco and more). Permission slips required. For more information, call 228-8844.

Congressional Awards Program

Meeting Sept. 18 from 7:30 to 8 p.m. The CAP is about challenge and is open to all 14 to 23 year olds. Participants can earn various congressional certificates and medals for setting goals in four program areas: volunteer public service, personal development, physical fitness and expedition/exploration. For more information, call 228-8844.

Air Force Clubs Squadron Membership Race

The clubs are offering an opportunity for squadrons to receive discounts for their next squadron function. The squadrons with the most new members acquired between Aug. 18 and Oct. 31 win 50 percent off any function at The Mirage Officers Club. Three prizes will be awarded to winners in each of the following categories:

small squadron (0 to 150 personnel), medium squadron (150 to 300 personnel), and large squadron (300 or more personnel). New members must be assigned to the squadron they signed up under and can be enlisted, officer or civilian members. The discount is not for alcoholic beverages. For more information, call 228-3301.

Skin Cancer: The Most Common Cancer

Skin cancer is the most common kind of cancer today. There are an estimated 300,000 to 600,000 cases of melanoma and non-melanoma skin cancers. While it is the most common of cancers, it is also one of the most curable forms of cancer.

Prevention is the best fight against skin cancer. The following are important measures to take in the prevention of skin cancer:

- Wear spf 30 or higher when exposed to the sun
- Wear clothes that cover much of your skin while in the sun

- Locate shaded areas when in sunlight for extended periods of time
- Sun tanning of any type should be avoided
- Protect the head, face, neck and eyes at all costs
- Schedule outdoor activities when UV levels are minimal, such as in the early morning or late afternoon.

Common Sense Parenting®

New Book Brings
Help and Confidence to Parents of Toddlers

Confidence. Less conflict. Enjoyment.

That's what author Bridget Barnes believes parents who use the techniques and skills explained in the new book, Common Sense Parenting of Toddlers and Preschoolers, can gain. Those skills have been taught to parents of 2 to 5 year-olds in workshops offered by Girls and Boys Town since 1996 and are now available to any parent through the book just published by Boys Town Press.

When a parent realizes that "I can correct my child, he or she may get upset with me, but the child is still going to love me," the parent gains confidence, according to Barnes. The book shows parents how to stay calm, communicate clearly, set boundaries, have reasonable expectations, give consistent consequences, and teach a young child self-control and other skills.

Parenting toddlers can be a time of high conflict. Many couples are just finding out that they have very different parenting styles - one may see the other as either too lenient or too strict, says Barnes. It may not be an exaggeration, she adds, to say that agreeing to use Common Sense Parenting® techniques "saves marriages. It can lead to a lot less strife."

Parents, according to Barnes, list many of the same problems with their toddlers - acting up at bedtime and meals, throwing temper tantrums, refusing to take "no" for an answer, etc. In dealing with these issues, however, parents also make common mistakes - treating children like "little adults," giving kids choices they're not equipped to make, and setting expectations too high.

Young children, she says, need lots of reminders, assistance, modeling, and patience. The book provides step-by-step information on how to do these things. Also included are answers to dozens of questions frequently asked by parents of toddlers.

Barnes is the mother of two and stepmother of four children and has been a Common Sense Parenting trainer for 13 years.

Common Sense Parenting of Toddlers and Preschoolers is available from the Boys Town Press, 14100 Crawford St., Boys Town, NE 68010, 1-800-282-6657, www.girlsandboystown.org/btpres Boys Town Press is the publishing division of Girls and Boys Town, the original Father Flanagan's Boys' Home.

For more tips on parenting, visit our Web site: www.parenting.org or call the Girls and Boys Town National Hotline, 1-800-448-3000.
